Hello and Welcome

From the editor

It's often said the only certainties in life are death and taxes …… a rather sobering thought. So on a more positive note we'd like to make an addition to that shortlist ….. your very own Great Coates Village Magazine ! Despite the various restrictions still in place, once again we're determined to ensure the Great Coates community know what's been happening in and around our village, either via the website at greatcoatespc.com or through magazine you're probably holding right now.

As a nation it seems we're taking two steps forward and one back at times but at Great Coates Village Council (were we can safely do so) we're taking the stance ' THE SHOW MUST GO ON ! ' Since our last publication in June we've seen at least two exciting Great Coates In Bloom events take place in the village. On the final weekend of June, in largely sunny weather, the residents of Great Coates did the village proud once again ! You came together and presented a fantastic array of scarecrows for Worzel and Aunt Sally to judge on the Saturday afternoon (that's right Worzel Gummidge and Aunt Sally were here in Great Coates) The effort and imagination of the community was amazing with everything from traditional to highly imaginative scarecrows appearing in gardens and grass verges all around the village. Our celebrity judges struggled to pick a winner in a hotly contested event but despite a skirmish with the local constabulary on Woad Lane for a breach of the peace as they publicly disagreed over second place (see P.22), the eventual winner with a fantastic display was . . . . ??? Page 20 has the answer along with some terrific photos ? Hats off to everyone who participated !

Another great community effort shortly followed as Great Coates presented another united front with an extremely colourful and tidy maiden entry in the Best Kept Village competition, organised and judged by The Countryside Charity, achieving an extremely creditable fourth place in the relevant population category, an excellent result for our very first entry ! (details on P.6) As an added bonus on Thursday 13th August village council chair Jim Masterton, GCVC clerk Carl Thomas and myself judged the best kept garden competition, which residents had been invited to enter for a whopping £100 cash, first prize. The effort and hard work were highly evident and after a double re-count two gardens couldn't be separated for the first prize. Take a look on P.7 for the photos of the joint first place winners and their beautiful gardens. Another fantastic effort everyone ! Well done to all the entrants ! Great Coates has never looked so good, thanks to you !

Featuring in your September magazine we have regulars, Great Coates in Bloom (more great photos and news of a further addition to the village landscape on P.5), Let the Train take the strain steams forward out of it's Covid restrictions (P.11), another Great Coates walk steps up (P.8) , Blooming Great Coates is on (P.30) and of course kids favourite Cyril and friends scurries across to P.27 . Remember to enter our exclusive prize competitions on P.38 like our June winners

On P.24 we're delighted to bring you the Covid busting story of Crafty 1, the latest micro-brewery to successfully burst onto the craft beers scene (and it's on your doorstep !) And find out what ' A Day in the Life of a …. ' local magistrate looks like on P.33.

Last, but by no means least after advertising the vacancy for the last two years Great Coates Village Council is delighted to welcome two new councillors on board ! We're delighted to draw on the vast experience and insight of local ward councillor and former mayor of Grimsby, Cllr. Cliff Barber and adding another ladies point of view to the council will be former Yorkshire bank manager and busy Great Coates mum Emma Stiles. Welcome aboard Cliff and Emma.

So, in wrapping up another magazine it only remains to say Take care ! Stay safe ! Remember to wear your face mask and we'll see you in December for your bumper Christmas edition.

Well done Great Coates! It'll take more than a pandemic to keep this community down !

Cllr Karl Green

GREAT COATES IN BLOOM

After the runaway success of the Great Coates in Bloom scarecrow event and the successful entry of the village into the Lincolnshire Best Kept Village 2020, it's almost a case of 'follow that' for Great Coates in Bloom chair Mike Stewart and the hardworking in Bloom team.

However Mike said the team had already received lots of favourable comments about the colourful displays they'd organised at St. Nicolas church and 'Tommy's Mound ' on Woad Lane, both of which had been prepared for VJ Day on Sunday 15th August with a special service held at 'Tommy's Mound' to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the end of World War Two.

The work of the In Bloom team continues all year round of course and Mike told us how the focus is now on Autumn planting with over two hundred Bluebells to plant in addition to the many personal boxes located throughout the village. Mike and the team are currently waiting for confirmation from N.E.L.C. that a pony cart can be permanently located on the green at the top of Station rd. next to the bus stop which will serve as a fabulously colourful focal point for the main entrance to the village. The next official event for GCIB is their annual MacMillan coffee morning to be held at 47 Woad Lane on the morning of Saturday 26th September between ten o'clock and midday. In October the team will be preparing to respect the fallen of two World Wars with their eye catching, red poppy displays featuring at several locations around the village.

GREAT COATES IN BLOOM

With the prestigious East Midlands In Bloom Competition cancelled this year the village made a late entry into the Best Kept Village run by the Countryside Charity.

Having never entered a competition before and with the In Bloom Group just two years old it was a huge achievement to be judged 4th of villages throughout North & North East Lincolnshire scoring 190 out of 200.

How The Judges Scored Great Coates	Mark Max
General Tidiness & Appearance Litter, fly tipping, graffiti, including at bus stops & telephone boxes. General maintenance of hedges, trees, verges, fences, walls, paths and seats	49 50
Community Facilities Community centres, village halls, schools, parks, playing fields, churchyards/cemeteries, chapel surrounds, war memorials and public noticeboards.	48 50
Gardens & Community Areas Gardens, window boxes, hanging baskets, tubs and planters, community planting, public area	65 70
Other Community Features Shops, inns, farmsteads, workshops, business premises, advertisements and signposts.	28 30

The winner was Worlaby who scored 194.

Judges toured the village anonymously and singled out 'The Train', outside 9 Station Road as the most innovative planting display commenting "The train and 3 carriages set on a wooden track provides a delightful display of colour on the verge on Station Road. The construction of the engine using an oil drum and the wooden carriages is impressive matched by the highly effective range of plants which provide a colourful and innovative attraction.

How The Judges Summed Up Great Coates

This is a most attractive village, significantly enhanced by some delightful community planting and commendably free of litter. There has been an impressive community effort in preparing the village for this competition with many attractive features throughout the village. Many residents had very tidy and attractive gardens, with particularly colourful floral displays and planting at Rose Cottage on old Road, 4 Hunters Croft, 78 and 80 Woad Lane and also at Church Cottages on Station Road.

The community planting includes a very colourful display of planting baskets on the fence at the mini-roundabout, at the end of Station Road adjoining Great Coates Road. There was also a great array of well-chosen planting at the entrance to the village on Woad Lane near the village sign.

More community planting could be found at Osprey Drive (where there was also a well-maintained play area), by the level crossing on Woad Lane and planting under trees at the end of Newbury Terrace and Blackthorne Drive. A particularly attractive feature was the planting at the entrance to the footpath on Allington Drive. There was very well-painted fencing with planters at either end and a bench with flowers alongside.

The village also benefits from good noticeboards and a very good-sized and well-maintained village hall with excellent planting around the building

GREAT COATES IN BLOOM

August not only saw The Countryside Charity, Northern Lincolnshire Best Kept Village competition but also judging by members of Great Coates Village Council for best kept garden. Whilst the judging took place viewing front gardens throughout the village, residents had been invited to inform the council clerk if they wished to nominate their rear garden also as part of the process and several keen gardeners took up the opportunity. On a rather overcast, mid-August morning village council chair Cllr. Jim Masterton, Cllr. Karl Green and clerk to the council Carl Thomas set out with the unenviable task of picking a winner. Whose efforts and imagination would be rewarded with the £100 first prize ? Unsurprisingly, with added opportunity arising from the recent lockdown, the effort, hard work and imagination of the community meant the standard throughout the village was extremely high with ponds, water features, decorative stone and slate complimenting a colourful variety of flora and fauna. Clearly many residents had given plenty of thought to planning and designing their gardens, ranging from neat and simple, striking and effective to colourful wild flowers surrounding ponds and rockeries.

After two hours marvelling at the fantastic efforts, creativity and no little TLC clearly applied throughout the village, it was whittled down to eight finalists. Deciding the eventual winner would be extremely tricky and in the interests of impartiality a secret ballot was held with the judges awarding points between one and eight for each of the finalists.

As a result of the exceptional standard on display it took a double, 'election style ' recount to discover two particular gardens could not be separated !! Both residents 'gamble ' to include their back garden in the equation had paid off with a table topping 25 points and joint first place ! A mention must go to Rose Cottage, Station Rd who achieved an extremely creditable third place

Before we announce the joint winners Great Coates Village Council would like to say a very big thankyou all the green fingered residents for their sterling effort, creativity and once again doing our village proud ! Well done and thankyou Great Coates ! Drumroll please ……. And the joint first place winners, splitting the £100 prize between them are Mrs. Jean Stocks of Woad Lane and Mr. Raymond Frost of Meadowbank …….. Congratulations to you both !

The Freshney Wildlife

You may download the full walk leaflet giving directions and a map from the village council website: www.greatcoatespc.com/walks.

Our second walk in this series takes us to a wonderful area of wildlife and scenery which has dramatically changed over the last 20 years or so.

This is an extremely easy walk for all ages as it's flat throughout.

We start this walk turning onto the footpath along the River Freshney walking towards St Michaels Church.

The initial part of the walk is quite open but look closely and you may see evidence of Otters or if you're really lucky Otters themselves as this is the area where they often reside. Work is currently taking place to secure the river banks as the heightened Otter activity is beginning to weaken them.

As you approach Great Coates Road with St Michaels Church on your left you begin by crossing the bridge to nowhere ?

As you cross the road keep to your left you will again follow the banks of the Freshney but on this section it's a very different river. An abundance of wildlife can be seen here as the river winds around with a more natural feel.

Depending on the time of year you'll be able to spot ducks, swans, numerous different birds, water voles, terrapins and otters to name just a few.

Continuing the walk, you come into an area which can sometimes have an eerie feel previously dry land but now obviously wetlands. Former woodland has now disappeared to reveal a huge natural "lake" where wildlife has evolved significantly over recent years.

Several trees still remain, now obviously dead, with no greenery appearing out of the ground engulfed by water.

As you approach the footbridge, leading towards Laceby Acres, take a right turn walking along the footpath through the wooded area back towards Great Coates Road.

Carry on into Wybers Wood where you can enjoy a meal and a pint at The Jubilee or have a walk back to Great Coates with a delicious tray of fish and chips from the excellent Wybers Chippy.

You'll now walk back into Great Coates via The Avenue, one of the oldest areas of the village.

No matter how many times you take this walk you'll almost certainly see new wildlife and the changing landscape of the River Freshney.

CARS | ACCIDENT REPAIR CENTRE

Well we are back ! and delighted to continue our journey showcasing the finest hostelries for eating and drinking along the Cleethorpes to Barton railway.

Limited trains do mean you have to plan a little and our first trip involved taking my grandson to one of his grandad's favourite destinations - Barton.

Leaving Great Coates on the 10.11 train we arrived in Barton at 10.50. Unfortunately, no beer for Grandad on this trip (Barton is renowned for its real ale pubs) so we took a short walk along the Ropewalk towards the Humber bank.

Stopping off at a great play area for my grandson after which we walked towards the Waters Edge Visitors Park. Sadly, the assault course had been vandalised, so we carried on through the visitors' park before making our way along the Humber Bank to The Old Tileworks for lunch.

Different times today - track and trace in operation, being greeted at the door and shown to your table, after having your temperature checked.

I've visited here a few times and cannot fault the service or food. Breakfasts here are fantastic - very tasty, good portions and great value for money. Unfortunately, we arrived a few minutes too late for breakfast today, so I opted for the burger and my grandson had a cheese sandwich.

Although you need to place your order at the servery, all cutlery and drinks are delivered to your table.

The food arrived pretty quickly and we both tucked in. A tasty, meaty burger served with home cooked chips, flavoursome salad and lovely homemade coleslaw - very enjoyable.

My grandson's sandwich was served with crisps and salad and he told me it was fresh and nice !

You cannot leave here without having a cake so I chose the strawberry slice whereas Lewis went for size - a huge chocolate cake !.

We walked off our lunch along the Humber Bridge and back through the Bridge Park where we spent some more time at the kids play area (surprise, surprise !)

Our return train was at 13.50 so we decided to walk back stopping off at The Ropewalk Coffee Shop for ice cream. Three scoops was just too much but between us we demolished it before jumping onto the train.

Another great day in Barton.

The Foundry is a new bar and grill on Grant Street in Cleethorpes.

Just twenty minutes after jumping on the 12.29 from Great Coates to Cleethorpes we were settled down looking at the menu. Again, a limited menu but a good choice of dishes. Mostly German themed, I opted for the 'Hot Diggerty Dog' while my wife ordered the fried chicken schnitzel.

A good range of drinks was on offer, although only one real ale but excellent all the same. I can thoroughly recommend the Atlantic Pale Ale.

This large venue has substantial seating inside and a huge beer garden where we are assured local bands will entertain when things get back to normal, whatever the norm is ?

Friendly, table service was available with drinks arriving promptly and the food not long afterwards and it looked really good ! The Hot Diggerty Dog comprised a foot-long Bratwurst served with chilli beef in a Pretzel roll with fries, sauerkraut and onion shards. Couldn't wait to dig in and I wasn't disappointed. Very tasty and thoroughly enjoyable !

The chicken schnitzel served with fries, curried coleslaw and pickled cucumber was equally tasty according to my wife, who promptly informed me that she could not wait to return and try another dish.

Good sized portions didn't disappoint, and the service was very efficient with two meals and two drinks coming to a very reasonable £30. This large venue has potential and it's great to see it open again and based on our visit we're pretty sure it will quickly become very popular – We will certainly be back in any event.

No.2 Pub

When in Cleethorpes and if you're a real ale fan you cannot go without a visit to the 'No 2 Refreshment Rooms' or as some call it 'Under The Clock'. This small but extremely friendly bar is listed in The Good Pub Guide and its easy to see why. A good selection of real ales frequently changed with guest ales at reasonable prices.

The only drawback to this cosy pub is it's small but often the regulars will ensure you have a seat and make you welcome, before boarding the train back to Great Coates.

The Green Man
Stallingborough

Sunday Roasts Are Back !

The Green Man at Stallingborough re-opened on during August and that meant the return of their superb Sunday roasts.

Like most pubs they currently operate with a limited menu but this has not affected the quality and standard of food.

A choice of turkey, pork or lamb shank with a good serving of vegetables and potatoes for £9.49, although you pay £11.49 for the lamb and £10.49 for the beef.

Ordering using the new online app is easy and drinks are promptly delivered to your table.

Our meals arrived quickly with a generous helping of the roast, a good range of tasty veg with unlimited gravy and excellent, friendly service where nothing is too much trouble.

Everything was cooked to perfection and there were certainly no complaints from anyone in our party as we all left very happy.

You can even order additional Yorkshire puddings, roast potatoes and gravy if you're feeling hungry – ALL AT NO EXTRA COST !

They normally have at least two real ales on offer and a good choice of drinks.

You'll not be disappointed and we're certain once you've tried a Green Man roast, you'll be back for more.

One word of advice though – It's usually busy (always a good sign) so book a table otherwise you may be disappointed.

SPEEDWATCH UPDATE

Great Coates Village Council Speedwatch campaign, aimed at deterring speeding motorists in our village, continues to go from strength to strength in making the roads safer throughout the village for everyone. Recent Speedwatch activity has proved successful in catching motorists breaking the law whilst driving through the village in excess of the 30 MPH speed limit. As a direct result, to date over twenty five 'speeders' have been contacted by Safer Roads Humber and warned about their future conduct and the need to slow down and drive within the speed limit on UK roads. Anyone interested in supporting the Great Coates Speedwatch initiative should contact clerk.greatcoatesvc@gmail.com.

OPERATION YELLOWFIN

Currently one of the most emotive and concerning issues within the village is the dangerous and reckless behaviour of unlicensed motorcyclists tearing through the village at law breaking speeds, putting the lives of both motorists and pedestrians at risk. Recently Great Coates has seen a significant rise in the number of incidents relating to these brainless idiots ! Several pedestrians including young mothers walking with or pushing young children in their pushchairs have needed to take evasive action to protect themselves and their small children from being mown down. The majority of these near misses have centred around the cutting area (often referred to as footpath 49) between Cromwell Rd. on the Willows Estate and Station Rd. Great Coates also running off into Ferndown. In addition to being a dangerous weapon in the hands of these morons the motorbikes in question are completely illegal, neither licensed (no registration plates) taxed or insured.

Although Great Coates Village Council are liaising closely with N.E. Lincs. Council over potential physical restrictions around the entry / exit points, the problem is of a criminal nature unfortunately, rendering the village council somewhat powerless in the circumstances. The issue of motorbike theft and the anti-social use of motorbikes is currently under close scrutiny through Humberside Police initiative Operation Yellowfin which has proved very successful in tackling these specific crimes north of the Humber.

Our local policing team in Great Coates are encouraging anyone who has experienced this type of anti-social behaviour or has any information relating to these crimes to report the incident immediately on 101 or anonymously on Crimestoppers 0800 555 111. More details about Operation Yellowfin can be found on the Humberside Police website - www.humberside.police.uk.

GREAT COATES ANNUAL LITTER PICK

Owing to lockdown guidelines and Covid 19 restrictions the annual Great Coates litter pick, which normally takes place in March had to be postponed earlier this year. However, we have now been able to re-schedule this event and the new date for the Village Clean Up to take place is Saturday the 12th of September. The event has been well supported by the community in recent years and everyone and anyone's help is very much appreciated to keep our village clean and tidy. If you would like to help, equipment is provided and obviously the more, the merrier, so Womble on down to the village hall for 10.00 am on Saturday 12th September to help keep Great Coates tidy ! (P.18) Thankyou !

GHOSTIES and GHOULIES

Currently we have our fingers crossed the Halloween Event planned to take place at the village hall on Saturday October 31st may still go ahead but in these uncertain times it's impossible to say. However with the resounding success of the GCIB Scarecrow Event in June, it would be great to see the same community spirit coming together to display spooky Halloween themes in our front gardens, as many residents did last year (photos were featured in our December magazine) And with the chance of potentially winning first prize like the Dunn family on Woad Lane with their amazing scarecrow display, pocketing them £100 for their efforts. Last year around Halloween we saw plenty of cracking pumpkin lanterns and fantastic spooky garden displays of Ghosties, Ghoulies, Long legged beasties and Things that I'm pretty sure I heard go bump in the night ! Great fun for kids of all ages ! Also watch out for news of a spectacular Bonfire Night event possibly coming your way ! Further updates will be published on the village council website greatcoates pc.com

News From St Nicolas Church

Throughout history, no matter what life has thrown at us there has always been one constant - the Church. However, in these unprecedented times even the Church has had to make changes and, for the first time in modern history, churches have had to close their doors. Not even during the two wars did this happen. Modern technology has enabled St Nicolas to continue to serve the community through online daily prayers, communion on a Sunday morning and a Friday sing-a-long, organised by our organist, with requests made during the week on the church's Facebook page. The church has also been made available for private prayer each Tuesday and Thursday. As things have begun to move forward, we are at last able to move back to Sunday morning services, with restrictions in place of course. Socially distanced services with face masks and no singing are taking a little getting used to. Currently the online broadcasts are continuing.

Looking forward we are still planning to open for the Heritage Day on Saturday 19th September between 10.00am and 4.00pm. It will however be a more slimmed down event with the obvious precautions and we will not be able to serve refreshments. We also intend having our harvest festival service that weekend, at the Sunday morning service.

As a church community we have been supporting the local food bank for some time and were concerned that without services, where we could collect suitable items, the recipients would suffer. Fortunately, Pauline, who has been our link with the food bank, generously offered to wait outside the church between 10 and 10.30 each Tuesday morning so that people could drop off their contributions which she then takes to the food bank. Thanks to this arrangement we have been able to provide much needed and much appreciated food and toiletries to those most in need. A big thank you to all those who have made the time to contribute to this much needed service.

SCARECROW EVENT

Whilst Lincolnshire villages Faldingworth and Tetney are well known for their scarecrow weekends, the annual Great Coates scarecrow event, in only its second year and organised by Great Coates in Bloom, appears to be gaining a similarly popular reputation.

Thanks to the amazing effort and ingenuity of our residents over sixty different scarecrows (doubling the number from last year) were on view for the two thousand extra visitors who came to laugh and enjoy the tremendous effort of the community.

From PC Plod to the Wizard of Oz and Spiderman the final weekend of June saw the Great Coates community coming together once again, brilliantly displaying their scarecrows in a variety of obscure positions, to the delight of not only residents and hundreds of visitors to the village but also the judges, including ward councillor Tom Furneaux and none other than Worzel Gummidge and Aunt Sally !

Stopping to pose for photos with the extra visitors, residents and occasionally reluctant child (no surprise as the original Worzel Gummidge first aired in 1979) Tom and his co judges made their way from The Avenue through every road, close and lane all the way down to Allington Drive over the next four hours, marvelling at the impressive lookalikes.

Chief judge Tom and the highly qualified Worzel with his intended beau Aunt Sally found it extremely difficult to pick a top three from sixty four very impressive entries, as the effort and imagination of Great Coates was there for all to see. A tough decision, even for our 'experienced' judges !

After much deliberation they decided the three prize winners were as follows :- 3rd – Amanda Riggall from The Avenue with her amazing "Wizard of Oz" characters 2nd – Coralie & Erran, Osprey Drive

The Winners

Chris, Fiona & Danielle Dunn with "Key worker thank you & A family day out"

2nd

Coralie & Erran of Osprey Drive with "Armed Forces Day

3rd

Amanda Riggall with "Wizard of Oz"

HOME PROTECT THE NHS SAVE LIVES

with ‘Armed Forces Day ’ and 1st place went to Chris & Fiona Dunn of Woad Lane with their fantastic ‘ Key Worker Thankyou ‘ and ‘ Family Day Out ’ scarecrows

Apart from a short shower and an embarrassing skirmish on Woad Lane with the local constabulary (see photo) for a breach of the peace as Worzel and Aunt Sally publicly disagreed over the runner up, the day was an overwhelming success and with an assist from some favourable Facebook comments, Sunday saw a further influx of visitors flocking to see what was scaring the crows in Great Coates !

An entertaining and fun day for all ages but I’m sure you’ll agree the overall winner was undoubtedly the village and hugely impressive community of Great Coates !

Fancy a Crafty 1

Well now Great Coates has just the place for you !

Several months ago, when we still lived in a normal world, Boozy Bob (or Brian), launched micro-brewery and tap room, Crafty 1. Unfortunately, we all know what happened next and Brian must have feared the worst for his dream venture. No sooner had he opened the doors in late February and enjoyed three weekends trading, the nation went into Covid lockdown and the doors of the Crafty 1 closed almost as soon as they'd opened.

Thankfully, as the world gradually begins to right itself again, Brian has now re-opened to the delight of Craft beer lovers everywhere but particularly the thirsty, local residents of Great Coates. As the demand for locally brewed, craft beers and tap rooms surges in popularity we decided to call in on Brian to discover what the Crafty 1 is all about.

Brian, a joiner by trade, told us he'd been a keen home brewer for nearly forty years and wanted to take his pipedream of owning a micro-brewery to the next level. After successfully running and operating Wendy's deli next door since 2010 with his wife Claire, he spent two years scouring the area for the ideal property and location. As Brian's frustrations grew, unbelievably the perfect solution appeared, literally, on his doorstep as the unit immediately adjacent to Wendy's became available. His dream of providing a range of craft beers and wines combined with tasty food and a high level of friendly, customer service was about to become a reality !

Brewing a range of excellent craft beers and wines in the micro-brewery, partitioned only from the tap room by large perspex screens, enabling customers to see their tipple being brewed, the Crafty 1 currently has fourteen different craft beers to choose from, including the extremely popular Raspberry Ale, in addition to four vegan friendly home brewed wine options. Not only are there some thirst-quenching IPA craft ales available like Clem Fandango, Big Ceasy and Dizzy Blonde (all around 4.5% proof) and a very quaffable draught bitter in Kings Island but spirits and bottled beers are all available, with a micro – brewed brown ale coming soon !Despite the majority of craft beers being brewed on site Brian is also a big believer in supporting his fellow micro-breweries, frequently serving their IPA as guest beers.

However, it's not just alcohol on offer at the Crafty 1, there's also a tasty, simple food menu with chicken and chips, pizza platter and a delicious gourmet burger, all available with personal table service. Of the many plans Brian has for the Crafty 1 there'll be a brand new kitchen area opening soon providing a wider range of tasty meals, with steak, curry and food themed nights also on the menu plus a Sunday carvery with a difference ?

In support of a Covid friendly, socially distant environment the Crafty 1 has twelve tables inside, seating six people each (including four partitioned booths) and an additional twelve six-seater tables outside. As part of the personal table service food and drinks 'menus' are provided avoiding any queueing or unnecessary standing at the bar. The use of the hand sanitiser provided is encouraged upon entry and at least one member of your party is required to provide their contact details. Despite these necessary precautions the Crafty 1 still manages to maintain a pleasant, friendly and enjoyable atmosphere.

Obviously Brian needs a small team to support him at Crafty 1 including his wife Claire, barmaid Becky and new assistant brew master Rory, currently undertaking a two and a half year degree in brewing and distilling (who knew ?) Rory has travelled around the world studying the art of brewing in many countries, even running a small micro-brewery of his own in New Zealand but he's now back on terra firma at the Crafty 1 and agrees it's just what Grimsby needs to satisfy the rising tide of craft beer lovers. We couldn't agree with you more Rory !

Despite the obvious concerns for the hospitality industry Brian reports he's financially on target at the Crafty 1 all of which augers well for his future plans including Christmas Pud stout, exclusive on-site gin, a Christmas ales gift pack, an on-site brewing school and the installation of mezzanine flooring creating an additional EIGHTY seats !

What's even better (unlike others we could mention) this micro-brewery and tap room is 100% owned and operated by a local lad who told us he had the belief, in the immortal words of Kevin Costner ' IF YOU BUILD IT THEY WILL COME ' You were right and they certainly are Brian !

Currently the Crafty 1 opens on Thursday from 4 pm and Friday from 3 pm through to closing time with the first pints being pulled from 1pm on Saturday and Sunday. If we've whetted your appetite for more you can visit the Crafty 1 Facebook page or better still we'd recommend you pop in and enjoy a Crafty 1 with Brian and the team ! You'll definitely be back !

Cheers Great Coates !!

Well, hello to all my lovely friends in Great Coates or some of you anyway !

Who painted the fencing at the village hall ? No signs warning us of wet paint and little old me, having fun, jumped onto the gate and got my little paws covered in wet, brown paint ! I had to quickly toddle off to the river to clean myself up so I'm sorry if I've left little paw prints all along the pavement. I'm not going to apologise for leaving my paw prints on the gate mind you – serves the silly person right for not warning me.

Mally & Drake who I introduced to you in June have gone on their merry travels but I met Jimmy (he's a cricket you know) and he lives in the Cow Briars. I even went out of my normal comfort zone and discovered new areas of your wonderful village going out along the railway line towards another little village called Healing (watch those trains – they go soooo fast)

On the way I met Danny Deer – he was great and allowed me to ride on his back. He ran through the fields with me holding on for deer life and we finished up in this new village where he kindly dropped me off at the train station. Nobody told me the trains were not running every two hours either – I had to wait ages !

When the train finally came, I jumped on, dodging Sam (he's the conductor) as I'd lost my money riding on Danny's back – a bit naughty I know but I was only going down the track one stop. I did have my mask though and jumped from seat to seat for the three minute journey keeping out of Sam's way Sam – He ! He ! He !

What was going on at the end of June ? Loads and loads of different humans were in our little village walking all over looking at the scary things in gardens. Tell you what though – some were really good but me and my friends had to wait until much later to look as there were too many humans.

Becky bug flew all overlooking for me with the fantastic news that the hall re-opened in August – food will be back but …. Oh no !

Every time we went in the bin it was full of branches which doesn't help us. No food and no hiding places – it's just not very fair ! There's a nice new patio for us to sunbathe on though.

Andy the Adder caused a stir didn't he ? I can tell you he felt really bad but he had no choice. You see he was minding his own business sunbathing when a human started to tidy his garden. Andy felt threatened and bit him – not hard he tells me. He would have normally disappeared pretty quickly as he's much faster than me and Danny, but when he tried to slither away he hit his head on a concrete fence post, got confused and panicked as the human was a lot bigger than him.

Andy was really upset about it and Freddie suggested he went back to his friends at Willingham Woods for a few days. Not sure if he's back yet as I haven't seen him but he did want me to say sorry to the poor man he bit.

Well you might see me running around in the next few weeks as it's that time of the year when I need to collect and store my nuts for the winter. Don't disturb me please but if you do see me remember to shout out "Hey Cyril ! How's your nuts ?"

P.S. Danny Deer tells me there's a Macmillan Coffee Morning going on at 45 Woad Lane on Saturday 26th September from 10 am until midday. They'll be loads of cake……. Oh yes !

P.P.S. Don't forget to enter my competition on page 40 ! I'm hiding somewhere else in the magazine and if you can find me you might be lucky enough to win a prize !

Blooming Great Coates

Welcome to the thirteenth edition of our regular gardening feature

The following pages will offer hints and tips on just some of the more basic garden maintenance jobs for Autumn, follow our tips to ensure your garden looks 'blooming lovely' come springtime.
This feature includes spring flowering bulbs and some relevant preparation for the winter months ahead.

Start Planning Now for Early Spring Bulbs:
1 Prepare well - Remove weeds and incorporate lots of compost or other organic matter when planting bulbs. On heavy soils, dig in horticultural grit. Bulbs grown in pots need good drainage so put plenty of crocks in the bottom and use a well-drained compost.
2 Time it right - Garden centres sell bulbs for autumn planting from the end of July and want them out of the way by September to make room for Christmas-tree baubles. August is far too early to plant spring- flowering bulbs. October is the best time for daffodils; November for tulips.
3 Big, fat and firm - When buying bulbs, reject any that are soft or showing signs of mould. Small bulbs may not flower in their first year.
4 Dig deep - Bulbs should be planted in holes three to four times as deep as the bulb itself. So, for example, a 1in crocus bulb needs to be planted in a hole 3-4in deep.
5 Which way up? - If you are not sure, plant the bulb on its side: its stem will find its own way up.
6 Plant in pots - Fill large plastic pots with your favourite bulbs and just before they are about to flower, use them to plug holes in the border. Plastic pots can also be slipped inside more elegant terracotta versions and whipped out when the bulbs are over. Store the pots behind a shed to allow the foliage to die down, keep them weed-free, top-dress with a layer of compost in the autumn, and bring them out again the following year.

7 Mark the spot - Plant labels can look ugly but are indispensable for marking the position of bulbs whose foliage has died back. A discreet wooden label will prevent the frustration caused by plunging a fork into a border and spearing a clump of your favourite alliums.
8 Hedge dwellers - The dry conditions at the base of hedges make ideal growing conditions for many bulbs.
9 Damp lovers - Most bulbs need a period of dry conditions, but some only thrive in moist soils and moist meadows and need similar conditions in the garden.
10 Singular beauty - Eighteenth-century gardeners planted tulips individually to better appreciate their beauty. Bulbs planted singly in small terracotta pots and placed in an ordered manner around the garden bring instant elegance and formality. Use lily-flowered tulips, Fritillaria persica or large-flowered alliums.

11 Enemy tactics - The biggest destroyer of bulbs, particularly in urban gardens, is the squirrel. Although they dig up daffodils they don't eat them. But they have a voracious appetite for crocus and tulips. Planting the bulbs deeper than normal can help. Bulbs are most vulnerable after planting, when the soil is easy for squirrels to dig. Chicken-wire placed over the pot, or freshly dug soil, will deter them.

12 Lawn games - It's not just crocus that will grow in lawns and short grass. Many miniature irises, particularly Iris histrioides, will be perfectly happy in a lawn that does not become waterlogged. Of the dwarf narcissi, it is the cyclamineus hybrids that are the best adapted to the conditions. To plant, remove the turf with a spade, place the bulbs underneath and replace the turf. Don't cut the lawn until the bulbs' foliage has died down.

13 Long grass - Bulbs can also be grown in long, rough grass if you choose tall varieties that can compete. Narcissi are well-adapted to growing in grass, particularly the pheasant's eye narcissus. To plant the bulbs, remove clumps of grass with a bulb planter or with a mattock.

14 Don't skimp - For sheer flower-power, bulbs are the cheapest plants available, so don't skimp on the quantities you plant. Even in small gardens, massed plantings of a limited number of varieties is always most effective. In pots, allow for a dozen tulips per 12in container.

15 Lift and repeat - Left in the ground, tulips degenerate each year until they die; lifted, stored and replanted the following November they re-flower well. After flowering, remove the seed head and wait for the foliage to yellow and die back, then lift the bulbs, clean off any soil and store in boxes or net bags in a cool, dry place.

16 Limit your layers - Plant pots and windowboxes with no more than two layers of bulbs to prevent the unsightly spectacle of later-flowering plants appearing through the dying foliage of earlier ones.

Looking After Your Lawn

1 Clear up fallen leaves regularly to allow light to the grass.

2 A last mowing can be made this month before leaving your lawn for the winter.

3 Finish off essential lawn maintenance to avoid waterlogging and compaction over winter.

4 Try aerating your lawn with a garden fork, raking thatch from the surface and repairing dead patches.

5 Fresh turf can still be laid now. Autumn rains should ensure the turf settles successfully.

BASIC GARDENING TERMS & PHRASES EXPLAINED

Annuals - A plants whose life cycle takes a year to complete, from seed germination, to flowering, to setting seed and dying.

Biennial - A Plant whose life cycles takes 2 years to complete, in most cases it will only flower in the second year.

Evergreen - A plant which does not lose its leaves all at one time.

Herbaceous - Used to describe plants which tend to have soft fleshy stems rather than tough woody ones.
Hybrid - When a new plant is created by cross-pollinating two different species or varieties.
Perennial - A plant that lives for multiple growing seasons.
Propagation - The method of starting a new plant. (e.g. seeds and cuttings)
Rhizome - A plant stem that grows horizontally, usually under the surface of the soil. New plants will grow from various points of the rhizome. (e.g. Iris)

What to do in the garden in early Autumn
Keep the garden looking ship-shape over winter and you'll have less work to do come springtime. Here are just some ideas to help keep your garden healthy and ready to bloom come springtime
Tidying is an important part of garden maintenance. Not only does it help beat pests and diseases, you can reduce the amount of cutting back in spring.
1 CUT BACK faded flower stems of herbaceous perennials to their base.
2 CLEAR AWAY fallen leaves. Left to rot on the ground, leaves can damage plants underneath as well as the lawn. Provided their not suffering from disease old leaves can be added to the compost heap, or placed in separate bins or bags to make a nutritious soil conditioner
3 BIN OR BURN garden debris. Prevent the build up and persistence of diseases from year to year. Always rake up and destroy badly infected leaves by burning or binning them. Many diseases, such as rose black spot, scab and rusts, can all be controlled to some extent in this way.
4 GIVE SHELTER move tender plants in containers to a cool greenhouse, porch or conservatory. Or, place them against a sheltered wall or close to the house to provided extra warmth and protection.
5 INSULATE CONTAINERS protect containers from severe weather by wrapping them in bubblewrap or hessian. Better still (though they will look odd) make 'duvets' from plastic bags filled with shredded newspaper, polystyrene chips or roofing insulation.

6 LIFT THEM UP raise all containers onto proper pot feet or bricks to prevent them sitting in the wet, which can cause the compost to become waterlogged. This will lead to root rotting and make terracotta pots more prone to cracking.
7 RENOVATE OVERGROWN TREES AND SHRUBS you can renovate many overgrown hardy deciduous trees, shrubs and hedges by pruning them back hard now and throughout winter. Once the plants lose their leaves it's easier to see exactly what you're doing. Evergreens should be left until spring. Don't prune tender plants and prunus species (such as cherries and plums) because these are vulnerable to disease if pruned now. It's better to prune these fruit trees in late sprint or summer.
8 Lift and divide any overcrowded herbaceous perennials whilst the soil is still warm. After tidying borders, mulch with bark chips, well rotted manure or leaf mould to insulate plant roots for the winter and keep weed growth in check

We'd love to see and share your garden pictures, be proud and send in your pictures or contact us and we can come out and take photos for you.

 HAPPY GARDENING !

A Day in the Life of a Magistrate

We recently caught up with a Great Coates resident, who has a rather unique "job" and for that reason will remain anonymous.

At 31 he was encouraged by a solicitor friend to apply for the role of a magistrate. Initially not too keen he applied and after a detailed selection process lasting eight months he received a letter from the Lord Chancellor appointing him as a Justice of the Peace or magistrate.

At that point he was one of the youngest magistrates in the country and after four months training was sworn in at Grimsby Crown Court.

He told us more about the life of a magistrate and how it became a life changing moment for him. Now, having served on the bench for twenty years the experience he's gained has proved invaluable, not only the significant amount of legal knowledge but how it's developed his own personal confidence learning so much more about life and people, seeing and hearing things that really put his own life and problems into perspective.

He went on to say

"Like everything the role has changed immensely since I started. Originally, I only sat in Grimsby but now as I also sit on the Humber bench it means I can be asked to sit in Grimsby, Hull or Beverley. As I also now sit on the youth and family panels I regularly frequent the courts in Sheffield, Barnsley and Doncaster "

"Once you've served for two years you can join the youth and family panels which gives you more varied and very different work. Youth matters are very different – less formal court rooms with a different approach to sentencing and then you have the family courts which can be emotionally challenging. Life changing decisions when a child is taken into care"

"Every case will start at the magistrates court and they deal with around 95% of all cases. However, the more serious remaining 5% of cases such as murder, rape and burglary will be dealt with by the Crown Court which has more power. Magistrates can send an adult to prison for six months and a youth for twenty four months, whereas the Crown Court can obviously send somebody to prison for life ".

"Ordinarily magistrates will sit as a bench of three with one a presiding justice. When sat as three, each magistrate has equal say no matter how much experience they have and a legal advisor will sit with them to provide legal advice"

"Ultimately it is the magistrate who decides on sentence assisted by a large set of 'Sentencing Guidelines issued by the Sentencing Guidelines Council"

"One of our key objectives in sentencing is not just to punish but to rehabilitate, so ideally we don't see the defendant again"

"Technology has significantly changed the way the magistrates court works. Video link to prisons and police stations are now common and you have the Single Justice procedure where one magistrate deals with certain traffic offences and other minor crimes often over a hundred cases a day"

"Anybody can become a magistrate providing you meet certain criteria and the role can be very rewarding in many ways. A whole new circle of friends really as the magistracy is a family, experiencing people from all walks of life. The minimum commitment is twenty six half days a year, although this can increase if you choose to sit on the family and youth panels"

"In addition, you will have the opportunity to sit in the Crown Court hearing appeals and will be asked to issue warrants allowing police officers to enter people's homes but in doing so a magistrate must be satisfied, based on evidence, that they have reasonable grounds to do so.

"All in all, an enjoyable role and I've certainly gained a lot from it although it can be very hard on occasions with some very difficult decisions to make"

Anyone who may be interested in becoming a magistrate can find further information by going to www.gov.uk/become-magistrate.

Speedy Siblings

The Fox household have the fortunate accolade of being able to count not one but two highly competitive sisters within their ranks. Not only do the Meadowbank family have Great Coates Queen of Speed Charlotte making headlines but younger sister Harriet, an accomplished, competitive swimmer with Grimsby Aquatics, is beginning to make a splash. Speed freak Charlotte, ironically, is learning to drive at the moment, amusingly described by Mum Claire as her personal ' Tesco chauffeur '.

Harriet, clearly multi-talented, designed the scarecrow concept and built the display herself, without the knowledge of big sister Charlotte until Worzel and Aunt Sally gate crashed for a photo opportunity with the famous Fox sisters.

We'll be featuring plenty more about these speedy local siblings and their progress in future editions of the magazine, so watch this space !

Win a £50 NEXT voucher

We are fortunate to have some beautiful trees and foliage in and around Great Coates but how well do you know your British trees ? Can you find the seven well known British trees hidden in the word search grid below ? When you think you have identified all seven, re-arrange the first letters of each tree to discover something that could help you out of the woods ?

Who knows maybe you could be our NEXT lucky winner like Jo who won a £50 Pennells garden centre voucher in our June competition or Marilyn(left) who won £50 cash for solving our crossword back in March ?

REMEMBER YOU NEED TO BE 'IN IT TO WIN IT' GREAT COATES
